

Participation at SIEL 2018

International Economic Law in Unsettling Times, SIEL Biennial Conference Washington, D.C.

American University Washington College of Law, July 12 – 14, 2018

The WTO Chair at FLACSO Argentina participated at the Panel “Interesting Times: “Trade and” the Future of the WTO? organized jointly by the Singapore, Mexican and Turkish WTO Chairs and supported by WTO Chairs’ Advisory Members Mark Wu and Henry Gao.

In effect, Prof. Michael Ewing Chow, presented his paper “Trade and Food Security – Beyond Economic Gains - An Existential Issue”; Prof. Bradly Condon discussed Trade and Environment: How WTO Law Promotes Evidence-Based Environmental Policies; then, Prof. Delich talked about Trade and Agri Standards: WTO as a Discipline for Fairness and Market Access and finally Prof. Pinar Artiran discussed around Trade and Competition: Time to embrace the complementarity and interdependence. Henry Gao commented all papers while participants were very active with several and interesting questions!

Overview of the WTO Chair panel at SIEL 2018.

Comments at the end of the panel at SIEL 2018